Patriot Technologies Joins Guidance Software's Reseller Program

IT security solutions leader to offer EnCase investigative infrastructure for commercial and government agencies

FREDERICK, MD, December 5, 2007 — Patriot Technologies today announced it has joined Guidance Software's Reseller Program and will offer Guidance Software's suite of EnCase® solutions. EnCase solutions provide an enterprise investigative infrastructure that enables commercial and government agencies to conduct digital investigations, respond to electronic discovery requests and other large-scale data collection needs. This strategic move allows Patriot to expand its security solutions footprint by offering Guidance Software's industry-leading computer investigations platform and suites.

Patriot Technologies will offer EnCase Enterprise, Guidance Software's scalable platform that provides complete network visibility, immediate response and forensic-level analysis of servers and workstations across networks, and the following suites as well:

- EnCase Automated Incident Response Suite integrates with alerting and content monitoring tools to field alerts and provide real-time response.
- EnCase eDiscovery Suite automates and expands the capabilities of EnCase Enterprise, allowing organizations to search, collect and preserve electronically stored information across their entire network, including desktops, laptops, servers and email systems, and then process the data for attorney review.
- EnCase Information Assurance Suite, a fully integrated information security and data protection suite designed specifically for government agencies.

“Guidance Software's reputation in the digital investigations space is unparalleled,” said Bruce Tucker, President of Patriot Technologies. “We pride ourselves on building relationships with industry leaders that result in superior security solutions for our clients.”
