Patriot Technologies Recognized As 2009 Websense All-Star Partner

Leading Security Software Innovator Names Patriot Technologies as a Top-Performing Websense Channel Partner in North America

FREDERICK, MD, February 26, 2009 — Patriot Technologies, the trusted, go-to source for IT security, announced today it was recognized as a 2009 All-Star Partner by Websense, a global leader in integrated web, data and email security solutions.

The award was presented to Bruce Tucker, President and Co-Founder during the Websense 2009 North American Channel Partner Conference on Jan. 14 - 15 in Coronado, Calif. Patriot Technologies received the honor for its overall performance as a Websense partner and proven expertise in Websense security solutions. A total of 20 Websense partners (out of 2,000) were honored for their innovative approach to essential information protection and for delivering an exceptional level of service to their business customers.

“This year’s winners went above and beyond to demonstrate their commitment to Websense and deliver innovative data-centric solutions to their customers,” said David Roberts, Senior Vice President of Americas Sales, Websense. “We’re pleased to recognize Patriot Technologies as one of our top 20 Websense partners in North America and one of our strongest leaders in the federal space.”

Recipients of the 2009 Websense All-Star Partner Awards were evaluated on a variety of criteria including their overall technical expertise and working relationship with Websense, as well as their company’s achievements against measurable objectives such as year-over-year growth and technical certifications.

“Websense is a great partner for Patriot because of their technology and approach to web security,” said Bruce Tucker. “We’ve seen a lot of traction over the last year with their solution and are honored to be recognized as a top-performing partner.”
