Patriot Technologies Utilizes eIQnetworks' Unified Situational Awareness Platform to Integrate Customers' Multiple Security Solutions into Single View

Patriot Technologies Leverages eIQnetworks' SecureVue to Augment SIEM Products, Deliver Critical Continuous Monitoring for Commercial and Government Customers

Acton, Mass. – Dec. 14, 2011 – eIQnetworks, Inc., the only global provider of a unified situational awareness solution, today announced that Patriot Technologies, a trusted source for comprehensive IT security solutions for more than 15 years, has been deploying eIQnetworks' SecureVue® Unified Situational Awareness Platform to integrate multiple security solutions into a single pane of glass for its customers. With a single, unified view, SecureVue enables customers to gain complete visibility into their network security posture to detect and resolve potential threats and compliance issues. Based in Frederick, Maryland, Patriot Technologies serves thousands of government and commercial customers worldwide.

“With the increasing complexity of the security and compliance landscape, many of our customers are currently relying on multiple security products to try and accomplish their security objectives,” commented Trish Southwell, vice president of sales at Patriot Technologies. “SecureVue has become a key component in our continuous monitoring solution, filling the information gap left behind by SIEM products. SecureVue is unique in that it integrates all the information generated by our customers' multiple security products and feeds real, actionable information into SecureVue's single pane of glass. Additionally, the product delivers critical continuous compliance monitoring, not just a snap shot in time.”

Patriot Technologies is a trusted partner that bridges the gap between IT security requirements and practical implementation. The company works with customers on the challenges of compliance, including continuous monitoring, as well as cloud security and mobile security. They have a proven track record of objective vulnerabilities analysis ensuring confidentiality, integrity and availability of customer data while satisfying compliance requirements for government and commercial organizations worldwide. Patriot Technologies is an important member of eIQnetwork's rapidly expanding Advantage Partner Program.

“With data breach activity and complexity substantially up coupled with a growing set of compliance requirements, Patriot Technologies recognizes the critical need for its customers' visibility into all security-related data and correlating that data – both events and non-event information,” commented John Linkous, eIQnetworks' vice president, chief security and compliance officer. “SIEM simply doesn't do this, not only because of architecture and implementation problems, but a fundamental lack of capability. Patriot's customers are well equipped to address today's modern security threats and compliance mandates with the SecureVue Unified Situational Awareness Platform.”
